

MATTIA BISON

THINK POSITIVE, THINK MUSIC!

As a DJ, Mattia got his musical start in 2003 after discovering vinyls and house music.

He progressively made his first moves in Venice playing at local clubs such as Tag Club and Area City between others. In the mid-2000s he made the decision to explore new music horizons by moving to London for the summer. This is where his sonic vision really changed due to him discovering the minimal and tech scene that was so prominent in the city.

After this experience, he returned home to Italy and built up a studio in the industrial area of the city called Porto Marghera. In 2015, he released his first vinyl "Give the Hype" EP on Kumquat Records, fruit of the collaboration with the distinguished Argentinian producer Alexis Cabrera and remixed by Barem.

Few years later, while settled in Barcelona and hungry for new creative adventures, Mattia performed as member of the psychedelic pop band "Tu No Existes", producing tracks with them and playing drum machines during the live shows.

Gig-wise Mattia has played all over, spinning at big and small venues alike, with such locations as: R33 (Barcelona), Casa Bonay (Barcelona), Pikes (Ibiza), Paradise Lost (Ibiza), Fattys (Andorra), OpenLab (Ibiza), Ibiza Sonica (Ibiza) along with many others. His musical output is mostly defined by his versatility, with the DJ sets filled with groovy emotions, silky smooth transitions and incorporating elements of house and techno.

After the release of Amen in 2022, track played worldwide by WhoMadeWho at festivals and clubs like Tomorrowland, Cova Santa & Loo Loo, in 2023 he launched his own label "Dirty Digital" which enabled him to have total creative freedom and to A&R music from a variety of styles and genres of the electronic music spectrum. The label's first release is called "Underlying Messages" EP and has been featured in Pista de Fusta radio show and Loverboy Magazine.

In his 20 years surrounded by music, Mattia still has an insatiable drive as an artist, committed to electronic music that is forward thinking and engaging, while always staying true to his own unique path and sound.
